

FIGURES OF TRADE

New York, Sept. 26.—Money on call loans to 4 per cent. The higher and lower rates of interest remain steady; posted rates, 4.60; set at actual rates, the 20 to 25 for six days and 25 to 30 for one month.

Railroads—New England, fine, sugar, 100c; coal, 100c; iron, 100c; copper, 100c; oil, 100c; cotton, 100c; coal, 100c; extended 20 cents.

Coal—Pacific railway bonds closed at 100c; 100c, 100c, 100c, 100c, 100c, 100c.

Oil—100c shares were sold on the stock exchange during the morning hour, principally of Standard. New England fine, sugar, 100c; coal, 100c; iron, 100c; copper, 100c.

Prices opened firm and slightly higher, but soon became irregular and continued to until 11 o'clock. A number of stocks were up, and others down, but there was no significant change. Oil preferred was the only exception, declining 1 per cent. After 11 o'clock, commercial stocks were up, and iron and coal stocks were down, but the effect was not great. The market was steady but the entire market and prices at noon were considerably higher than yesterday's closing.

The business of the afternoon was about a day's work, and the market was closed at 1 p.m.

New England and New York were the chief points of interest and both closed a fraction higher. The fall of the purchase price of oil did not withstanding that it had been sprung on the street on two occasions before, it had the effect of causing considerable buying of both stocks.

The total value of shares traded was $1,000.

Chicago Grain.

Chicago, Sept. 26.—Wheat opened weak and ruled higher during most of the session, closing to 16 1/2. There was very little out and in, and most trading was done in the early part of the day.

Cards and Warden grapes bring 20 per pound and Niagara 18.

Apples are 20c per pound; they are now

beginning to come in from the West.

The leather market remains firm. Sheepskins are out of the market.

Soring wheat is coming in to the market in large quantities, mostly in the middle of the day.

Wheat futures are the chief point of interest for the depression in wheat was the sharp break which occurred in corn. There was a general buying of the exchanges, which were very favorable for the rail wheelmen, who said it was a good time to buy.

The movement for the week has been generous and has added another large amount to the market supply, possibly in the neighborhood of 1,000 bushels.

The corn market showed decided

improvement, and the market is now

firm.

Receipts were liberal and over the

expectations. Foreign markets were steady, but lower. The price current presented its usual picture of a market that is not the same as it was a week ago.

The grain market is still strong.

Wheat, 16 1/2; corn, 20c per bushel.

Fruit—First Hand.

The market was flooded with grapes yesterday. There were about eight tons marketed.

Card and Warden grapes bring 20 per pound and Niagara 18.

Apples are 20c per pound; they are now

beginning to come in from the West.

The leather market remains firm. Sheep-

skins are out of the market.

Soring wheat is coming in to the market

in large quantities, mostly in the middle of the day.

Wheat futures are the chief point of interest for the depression in wheat was

the sharp break which occurred in corn.

There was a general buying of the exchanges, which were very favorable for the rail wheelmen, who said it was a good time to buy.

The movement for the week has been

generous and has added another large

amount to the market supply, possibly in the neighborhood of 1,000 bushels.

The corn market showed decided

improvement, and the market is now

firm.

Receipts were liberal and over the

expectations. Foreign markets were steady,

but lower. The price current presented

its usual picture of a market that is not

the same as it was a week ago.

The grain market is still strong.

Wheat, 16 1/2; corn, 20c per bushel.

Fruit—First Hand.

The market was flooded with grapes yesterday. There were about eight tons marketed.

Card and Warden grapes bring 20 per

pound and Niagara 18.

Apples are 20c per pound; they are now

beginning to come in from the West.

The leather market remains firm. Sheep-

skins are out of the market.

Soring wheat is coming in to the market

in large quantities, mostly in the middle of the day.

Wheat futures are the chief point of

interest for the depression in wheat was

the sharp break which occurred in corn.

There was a general buying of the exchanges, which were very favorable for the rail wheelmen, who said it was a good time to buy.

The movement for the week has been

generous and has added another large

amount to the market supply, possibly in

the neighborhood of 1,000 bushels.

The corn market showed decided

improvement, and the market is now

firm.

Receipts were liberal and over the

expectations. Foreign markets were steady,

but lower. The price current presented

its usual picture of a market that is not

the same as it was a week ago.

The grain market is still strong.

Wheat, 16 1/2; corn, 20c per bushel.

Fruit—First Hand.

The market was flooded with grapes yesterday. There were about eight tons marketed.

Card and Warden grapes bring 20 per

pound and Niagara 18.

Apples are 20c per pound; they are now

beginning to come in from the West.

The leather market remains firm. Sheep-

skins are out of the market.

Soring wheat is coming in to the market

in large quantities, mostly in the middle of the day.

Wheat futures are the chief point of

interest for the depression in wheat was

the sharp break which occurred in corn.

There was a general buying of the exchanges, which were very favorable for the rail wheelmen, who said it was a good time to buy.

The movement for the week has been

generous and has added another large

amount to the market supply, possibly in

the neighborhood of 1,000 bushels.

The corn market showed decided

improvement, and the market is now

firm.

Receipts were liberal and over the

expectations. Foreign markets were steady,

but lower. The price current presented

its usual picture of a market that is not

the same as it was a week ago.

The grain market is still strong.

Wheat, 16 1/2; corn, 20c per bushel.

Fruit—First Hand.

The market was flooded with grapes yesterday. There were about eight tons marketed.

Card and Warden grapes bring 20 per

pound and Niagara 18.

Apples are 20c per pound; they are now

beginning to come in from the West.

The leather market remains firm. Sheep-

skins are out of the market.

Soring wheat is coming in to the market

in large quantities, mostly in the middle of the day.

Wheat futures are the chief point of

interest for the depression in wheat was

the sharp break which occurred in corn.

There was a general buying of the exchanges, which were very favorable for the rail wheelmen, who said it was a good time to buy.

The movement for the week has been

generous and has added another large

amount to the market supply, possibly in

the neighborhood of 1,000 bushels.

The corn market showed decided

improvement, and the market is now

firm.

Receipts were liberal and over the

expectations. Foreign markets were steady,

but lower. The price current presented

its usual picture of a market that is not

the same as it was a week ago.

The grain market is still strong.

Wheat, 16 1/2; corn, 20c per bushel.

Fruit—First Hand.

The market was flooded with grapes yesterday. There were about eight tons marketed.

Card and Warden grapes bring 20 per

pound and Niagara 18.

Apples are 20c per pound; they are now

beginning to come in from the West.

The leather market remains firm. Sheep-

skins are out of the market.

Soring wheat is coming in to the market

in large quantities, mostly in the middle of the day.

Wheat futures are the chief point of

interest for the depression in wheat was

the sharp break which occurred in corn.

There was a general buying of the exchanges, which were very favorable for the rail wheelmen, who said it was a good time to buy.

The movement for the week has been

generous and has added another large

amount to the market supply, possibly in

the neighborhood of 1,000 bushels.

The corn market showed decided

improvement, and the market is now

firm.

Receipts were liberal and over the

expectations. Foreign markets were steady,

but lower. The price current presented

its usual picture of a market that is not

the same as it was a week ago.

The grain market is still strong.

Wheat, 16 1/2; corn, 20c per bushel.

Fruit—First Hand.

The market was flooded with grapes yesterday. There were about eight tons marketed.

Card and Warden grapes bring 20 per

</div